Risk Management for Non-Profit Organizations

Risk can be defined as anything that threatens the ability of an organization to achieve its mission. Risk management is the process of anticipating risks and putting in place mechanisms to change and control risks. This workshop is an essential piece for boards and staff planning to embark on a Risk Management plan.

At the end of the session, participants will be able to:
- Identify potential sources of risk – including those that stem from critical events / transitional phases
- Describe the risk management process
- Identify techniques/strategies that can be used to manage risk

Facilitator: Kim Murphy (CPA, CA), Director, Risk Management, Queen’s University.
Kim Murphy is responsible for the overall strategic direction of risk management at Queen’s University, the development of a framework that allows for risk to be managed in a structured way and the promotion of a strong risk management culture within the University.
